DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Specification

2. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: On page 1, line 17 and page 5, line 9, the word "hausing" should be "housing".

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2, 4, and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Junichi (JP 07-057849).

Regarding claim 1, Junichi ('849) teaches throughout, but with particular reference to figures 4 and 5, an adjusting method for centering an earth electrode at a center electrode of a spark gap of a spark plug, comprising the steps of: illuminating the spark plug from a front of a surface of an end tip of the earth electrode; picking up a reflected image of the spark gap; calculating a center of the tip surface of the earth electrode and axis of the center electrode on the basis of the reflected image; moving the earth electrode toward the axis; measuring a positional difference between the axis of the center electrode and center of the earth electrode along a direction perpendicular to the axis of the center electrode.

Regarding claim 2, Junichi ('849) teaches the center of the earth electrode is an area centroid of the reflected image of the earth electrode.

Regarding claim 4, Junichi ('849) teaches all of the steps are repeated, if the positional difference is not within a prescribed tolerance.

Regarding claim 5, Junichi ('849) teaches the illuminating step or picking-up step is preceded by a chucking step for chucking the spark plug.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Junichi (JP 07-057849), of record, in view of Sydow (US 3,898,829).

Art Unit: 2879

Regarding claim 3, Junichi ('849) teaches all of the claimed limitations except for the moving step being a spring-back.

Further regarding claim 3, Sydow ('829) teaches the use of a spring-back method as a means of adjusting a spark plug for the purpose of improving the alignment of the spark plug.

Hence it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the spring-back method of Sydow in the adjusting method of Junichi for the purpose of improving the alignment of the spark plug.
